

How do I enable the collapse/expand behaviour of the navigation tree?

By default after setting up Daisy and creating a site with the `daisy-wiki-add-site` tool, the navigation tree of the site will always be displayed fully.

To enable the expand/collapse behaviour, you need to set the `contextualizedTree` property in the `siteconf.xml`.

This is done by opening the `siteconf.xml` file of the site in question:

```
<wikidata directory>/sites/<sitename>/siteconf.xml

and look in there for the following:

```
<contextualizedTree>false</contextualizedTree>

and change the `false` to `true`.

After this change, you do not need to restart the Daisy Wiki, but it might take a few seconds before the change is noticed.

More information about the `siteconf.xml` can be found in the sites documentation¹.
